1st Grade Independent Readers

From Mr. Blomberg's class, Evan, who shows great persistence when he reads. Evan is consistently using vowel patterns more and more to decode unfamiliar words and he doesn't give up. His expression has greatly improved over the past few months. Mr. Blomberg says, "Evan has accomplished many goals this year. He makes excellent connections with his reading. He continues to work diligently to become a champion reader!"

Also from Mr. Blomberg's class, Allora, who has worked hard and made a lot of progress as a reader. She is remembering to use vowel patterns more regularly, especially silent /e/. Her expression has improved over the school year. When she reads with confidence, she reads with expression. Mr. Blomberg says, "Allora works hard. She faces each day with a good attitude and I see her growing and adding skills to help her become a champion reader!"

From Mrs. Paul's class, Mason! Mason has done a fantastic job developing accuracy strategies. He has mastered his vowel patterns and is able to chunk 3 and 4 syllable words, woo hoo! Also, Mason is able to comprehend like a rock star and can tell key details as well as power connections to characters. Mrs. Paul excitedly cheered, "Mason, listening to you brings joy to my world! Keep it up!"

Also from Mrs. Paul's class, Landin! Landin has worked very hard on his ability to match the sounds to the letters from the beginning to the end of words. Landin also is able to use ULTIMATE READING STRATEGY by using the "get your mouth ready" sound with skip the word and come back! This make Landin and UNSTOPPABLE READER! Mrs. Paul giddily cheered, "Landin, you are the Houdini of reading. You magically make words appear! Keep it up buddy!"

From Mrs. Paul's class, Zachary, who is doing a fantastic job using accuracy strategies to problem solve words. Zach consistently blends across words and uses vowel patterns. He also has learned to cross check and when a word doesn't sound right or make sense he will go back and reread to figure it out! Mrs. Paul cheered, "Zach, you are doing a great job! I love listening to you read!"

From Mr. Blomberg's class, Jack, who has made great strides as a reader this year. Jack's accuracy and growing confidence are his greatest accomplishments as a reader. He uses the strategies we have practiced to sound out words successfully. He always brings in great connections to his reading! Mr. Blomberg says, "Jack has made so much progress over the past 7 months! I am so proud of him! He is a champion reader!"

Also from Mr. Blomberg's class, Jack, who has also developed into an amazing reader over the year. His accuracy has improved and he has worked hard on the "whiner" sounds, which used to trick him. He is a masterful "chunker" of big words. He has developed a confidence as he reads with better expression every week! Mr. Blomberg says, "Jack is doing a great job and I appreciate his hard work. He is a champion!"

HEALTHY CHOICES RESPECT & the RESPECT of others

The Dollars for Scholars recipients this year were Andrea Schreiner, Maia Reissner, and Madison Winter. RLES sponsors a Pie Auction after the Ice Age Days Parade, a Penny War competition, and a brat fry to raise money to support Rib Lake High School seniors with a $500 scholarship. The 5th graders review the applications using a rubric to choose the winners and present the scholarships during the awards night. Thank you Talon, Brayden, and Tessa for presenting this year's scholarships to Andrea, Maia, and Madison! Good Luck ladies!!
